WOMAN KILLED BY FALL FROM TENEMENT ROOF

> Mrs. Polowetski Falls or Jumps Six Stories to Paved

Mrs Freda Polowetski, forty years old, jumped or fell from the roof of the six-story tenement where she lived, at No. 451 Wendover avenue, to-day. A neighbor found the body in the paved courtyard below.

The woman was in the habit of going upon the house top every morning to get fresh air, as she suffered from a bronchial complaint which made breathing difficult. To-day her eight teen-year-old daugmer, Sally accompanied her. Her other child, Davil, and their luggage from the Waldorf to the American Line pier. They engaged a broad roomy "facek," as the Prince called it, and in it stowed odds and ends of Gladstone bugs, canvas sacks of lumpy ominous looking appearance, sawed-off steamer trunks, and finally a scap box with the Initials E. D. H. painted across it.

Bumped by a Trolley Car.

In the midst of all this luggage the lappy nobleman and his little Viscount friend rode away from the Waldorf, The cab sped swiftly down the avenue and then into Hroadway, where at Twelfth street it slowed in front of a trolley car and was bumped off its altoley car and was bumped off its altoley car and the Viscount jumped in time to save themselves, and were scarcely solied by their contact with the gutter, but the luggage got in a terrible mixer.

breathing difficult. To-day her eighter teen-year-old daughter, Sally accompanied her. Her other child, Davil, aged sixteen, had gene to work. It was raining at the time, and the girl soon returned to the living rooms of the family on the top floor. She had barely taken her seat when she heard a scream and saw what looked like a bundle of clothing flash past the window.

Sally Polowetski ran up to the roof. Her mother was not there. As she started for the parapet to look over a scream from a woman tenant on the ground floor warned of what had happened.

Policeman McGowan called an ambulance. Dr. Lordl, who came from Fordham Hospital, said Mrs. Polowetski had died instantly. The dead woman had a husband, Phineas Polowetski, a tailor, but she had lived apart from him for two years.
